Georgetown and Princeton Will Play To-day at Capital Park-Vets and Kids to Resume Their Daily Battle for Supremacy-Country Club Opening To-night.

An official of the Washington Jockey Club said vesterday that the Senate District Committee would probably report the race bill toproper fabrics are HERE in day, and no trouble was expected in its being passed by the Senate. "There is a certain element fighting the bill," the gentleman you'll find in any other two added, "which will likely give us some unstores combined. Prices are easiness when the President comes to consider the measure, but we have no reason to fear a veto. The bill, as amended by the Senate committee, does not discriminate against either Benning's or Ivy city, but treats both tracks alike. The limitation of time for racing is a guarantee that no continuous meeting will be held, and therefore this objectionable feature is absent and cannot be used as an argument against the bill. We will be ready to go ahead with arrangements for a Spring meeting at Benning's just as soon as the bill becomes a law."

> Jimmy James, the well-known sporting ann, does not believe Governor O'Ferrall can stop bookmaking at the St. Asaph track, and ases his belief on the context of the bill passed by the Virginia legislature, just adjourned "I have a copy of this bill," he said, "and it permits bookmaking on any chartered track in the state, and its language chartered track in the state, and its language is so plain that any one can understand its meaning. The St. Asaph track is chartered by the Assembly and comes within the requirements of the law. The Governor may rake up some old act, but he will probably find that the new bill will repeal any ancient measure. I have no interest in St. Asaph's track, but simply give my opinion, and, to speak plainly, I doubt if Governor O'Ferrall has really said he has authority to break up bookmaking at Hill's track, as has been reported in different papers."

It was in the but we will have a shake- Brotherhood year that Joyce came to the front as a member of Ward's Brooklyn wonders, and he subsequently played third base for the Boston Association team. He afterwards returned to Brooklyn, and at the beginning of last season his services were claimed by Washington. There was a difference between the player and the Wagners on the question of salary, and Joyce preferred remaining sile the entire year rather than ac-cept the terms offered. He put in a good part of the time playing the races, and ac-cording to his own words kept ahead of the game, but he admits that a man must keep his mind on his number to break even with the books.

for a recognition of the Congressional frank as well as the local rate of postage prevailing in the United States, it was thought that some officious individual had made a blunder.

Subsequently it was learned at the Post Office Department that the ground of the seizure was not the fact that the matter bore a Senatorial frank instead of postage, but that the Becord contained extracts from Henry George's work on the single tax and other books on economies which were liberally drawn upon by Messrs. Johnson, of Ohio; Burrows, of Machigan, and several other members, who used the material for campaign purposes.

Postmaster General Bissell, on the other hand, has maintained that the officials of this government are the only judges of what is proper to incorporate in the Congressional Record or transmit under a Congressional frank, and that if the United States Post Office Department is willing to recognize Senatorial franks the Canadian officials have no right to refuse to carry matter covered by them.

Negotiations are pending looking to a settlement of the points in controversy, and unless a satisfactory conclusion is accorded by the Canadian officials the Postmaster General will issue orders retaliating upon Canadian public documents which are now handled under frank in the United States mail.

Mr. Harrison's Candidacy.

WASHINGTON, March 24.-Another statement, as from ex-President Harrison, has appeared, in which he again affirms that he "does not feel he would be doing right to himself and family if he were to consent to accept a nomination, granting it would be forced upon him." In another part of the interview he refers to the pressure for office as the principal reason for not consenting to stand, which don't have much relation to justice to himself and his family, and so on. A suspicion is growing up that Mr. Harrison is in dead carnest a candidate for a second nomination. John C. New hasn't yet said he don't want the nomination, and until he does say so Mr. Harrison's protestations will not weigh much. That he protests too much is the common belief. While he is thus protesting a systematic plan is at work to keep him himself and family if he were to consent to the common belief. While he is thus protesting a systematic plan is at work to keep him before the country, because, as they who are working the plan say, it will "arouse a universal sentiment all over the country in his favor." Mr. Harrison intends to be a candidate, and this is the reason Mr. Manly is so active in another direction!

WESTERN UNION'S WIRE ARMS

Meeting of the International Typographics Union Committee on Government Control of the Telegraph-Nearly All States and Territories Represented.

An important meeting of the Internationa Typographical Union committee on governmental ownership and control of the tele graph and the state auxiliary committees was called yesterday afternoon at the Typographical Temple, 423 G street northwest. Repre sentatives from almost every state and territory in the Union were present to discuss th subject of the monopolization of the tele graph systems of the country.

Secretary Bell, of the general committee made an address upon the present status of the bills now pending in Congress, and spoke as being warmly in support of the contemplated reform. Many valuable items of information were brought up, and his state ments made in reference to the telegraph were interesting.

A letter from Hon, H. W. Blair was read, in which he earnestly indorsed the passage of such a law as would give the government full control of the telegraph wires of the land. Hon. J. L. Pickler, of South Dakota, ad dressed the meeting, promising his support to the measure or any similar step which would reduce the expense of rapid communication between the people. He emphasized the fact that cheap and rapid connections were the greatest promoters of civilization He expressed his contempt for several prominent men who would not support, on the plea of paternalism, the enactment of laws that hardly begun as yet, there still favorable in- would conduce to the public good and such reforms as were perceptibly needed by the

At the conclusion of Mr. Pickler's remarks Secretary Bell read the following staby those have good real estate security to offer. The receipts for the year were $24,978,442.96, the total expenses $17,482,495,68, and the net profits $7,496,037,28. Its capital was $100,000,000, and the bonded indebtedness $14,801,364.

Judge Maguire, of California, who is well informed on the subject, cited a number of fasts in reference to the telegraph system of this and other countries. He said that there are now enough newspapers published, but that the number of independent organs was small. The enactment of such a law as he had introduced into Congress would remove
